CAPITALISTS ARE READY TO INVEST

Wealthy Business Men from Toronto Visit Here and Conclude that Investment is Better than Elsewhere in West.

EYES OF WHOLE WEST ON PARTY.

Composed of men of prominence and wealth from Toronto and other points in Ontario, a party of prospect investors stopped off here on Saturday last, with a view of investigating the possibilities in Wainwright and the surrounding districts, previous to intended purchases.

The party, which was in charge of T. A. Neely, represents various interested parties in Ontario, being composed of bankers, lawyers, professional men and capitalists. It is stated on reliable authority that the party came to Alberta, with the purpose of investing a million dollars in western lands.

During their stay here, a drive was taken to the farm lands, north of town, with a view of ascertaining the reliability of previous information.

Regarding these lands, Mr. Neely, as head of the party, gave out the following statements: "As for myself, and I think I can speak for the party generally, the outlying districts of your town seem better than we expected to find them. Investment in the district by some of these capitalists will no doubt follow, after having seen the land personally."

Mr. Neely also stated that the members of the party were very enthusiastic over investment, within the town limits and that they considered real estate prices reasonable both in some cases, investment seemed more promising here than in any town, he had visited on his former trips to Alberta.

Already in possession of 150,000 acres of Alberta lands, the company, represented by Mr. Neely, will increase their holdings, wherever they see promising signs of investment. In this district the company already owns upwards of ten thousand acres and the result of this party visiting here, will undoubtedly add several more thousands of acres to those already in their possession.

Although the party was here but one day, Mr. Neely stated that it was most gratifying to note the prevalent endeavours, on the part of the citizens, towards hospitality and entertainment. "These qualities," said he, "greatly assist a young town in its growth and you are to be congratulated on having such hospitable men, at the head of public affairs."

After a drive to the Buffalo Park, the party left on Sunday for Ryley and points farther up the line, where they will also ascertain the opportunities offered.

Following are the names and occupations of the gentlemen, making up the party: T. A. Neely, representing an English land company; C. W. Hartman, banker; T. J. Nicholls, Homer Reid, capitalists; J. M. Walton, banker; A. H. Godfrey, representing eastern interests; W. E. Broley, representing eastern interests and H. A. Reid, professional man.

$10 REWARD

STRAYED April 16th, from 34-47-8 one pair bay mares, three and four years old. Weight 850 to 950 lbs. One has striped white face and white hind feet, the other has grey face. $10 reward will be paid for information leading to their recovery.

LONDON TIMES WILL GIVE CANADA GREAT AD. AT CORONATION

Representative of London Times Through West Gathering Information to be Used in the 100 Page Empire Number at Time of Coronation, British Conference and Imperial Exhibition.

GREAT BOOST FOR CANADA.

During the past week, towns along the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific have been receiving visits from several press representatives of English newspapers and publications, with a view of ascertaining information, concerning the West and the American possessions of Great Britain.

Among these newspapers, sending out representatives to Canada are the London Times and the London Financial News. The former is now being represented by Mr. Theo. Fielden, manager of the Engineering department of that famous journal. Travelling with him are several sub-reporters, stenographers and an office staff, sufficiently large to assist in the volume of matter, being gathered, at all points throughout the country.

As Mr. Fielden passed through here, he was met at the train by Pits. Lally, and Secretary King of the Board of Trade and a representative of the Star. The interview revealed the fact that the London Times is issuing a special Empire number this year, with a careful and systematic investigation of the conditions, prevailing in the overseas dominions of England. "The number," said Mr. Fielden, "will contain upwards of one hundred pages, of which, thirty will be reserved for Canada. These pages will contain a report of the progress of Canada, since last Empire Day, illustrated throughout with scenes of Canadian development.

Mr. Fielden has visited almost every city and town of note, in Canada and has amassed an exhaustive supply of information, concerning the country, which is being compiled, by the office staff, as the party travels.

It was the opinion of the Times manager that Canada would receive the greatest newspaper prominence, she has yet received. The paper would receive a circulation of many hundreds of thousands and would be placed in the hands of prospect settlers, and to those who seek such information of this new land. "Every city and town in the Dominion," said Mr. Fielden, "will receive this world's advertisement. Undoubtedly, the issue will be the greatest ever printed and coming as it does, while the Coronation is in progress, the meeting of the British Conference and the time of the Imperial Exhibition in London, a great effect on the British Empire will result."

Mr. Fielden was en route to Edmonton, from where he is proceeding to the Pacific Coast, covering the length and breadth of the continent on his eastern return by way of the C. P. R.

WILL BUILD LINE THIS SUMMER

A recent report comes from Battleford that word has been received there from A. Champagne, M. P., in Ottawa that the route plans of both the C. N. R. and G. T. P. for their extensions westward, from Battleford have been approved, and that construction will commence this Spring. The G. T. P. line is from Battleford to Wainwright; the C. N. R. from there to a point in southern Alberta.

OBITUARY

A death, that brought with it a great shock to the citizens throughout the town, took place on Friday last, when Mrs. William Isted, passed away, after the illness of but a few days. Residing here for several months last winter, Mrs. Isted had formed a large circle of acquaintances and friends and the death caused natural expressions and feelings of regret from not only her most intimate friends but even among the citizens generally.

A few weeks ago, Mrs. Isted accompanied her husband to their homestead, south of Edmonton, in the best of health, but later was taken with convulsions, due to premature childbirth, which resulted in her death. Although the best medical skill was procured, all efforts to save the deceased proved unavailing, death resulting on Friday evening.

The burial took place on Sunday afternoon in the local cemetery, a large number of the citizens being present to pay their last respects.

The deepest sympathy of Wainwright friends and those of the entire community goes out to the young husband and members of the bereaved family, who are left to mourn her loss.

GEORGE FUCHS.

Alone and with no attendance in his two room shack! George Fuchs, a respected citizen of the town, came to his end, under the saddest of circumstances last week. Lying at full length upon the floor, clothed and showing signs of considerable struggle, his prone body was discovered on Sunday evening by neighbors, who had not seen him about his shack on Main Street for two days or more.

The late Mr. Fuchs, complaining of acute indigestion, had gone to Dr. Watson's private hospital early last week and remained until Friday afternoon, when he felt some better and went back to his home. From that time, no one remembers seeing him, although he purchased a dozen eggs from A. C. Armstrong that day, as shown by the receipt for same on the table in one of the rooms and the untouched eggs, lying near at hand.

After the discovery through the window had been made, Dr. Watson and N. W. M. P. Officer Walliker were notified, both proceeding to the scene of the death. After advancing many theories, as to the time of death and the cause, Dr. Watson concluded that the unfortunate man had met his death through a fit of apoplexy, on Saturday sometime and in all probability during the afternoon of that day.

Mr. Fuchs was a well known citizen of the town and played a part in public affairs, when in the spring of 1910, he was elected by acclamation to fill the vacancy made in the town council on the resignation of Chairman Davidson. Although he lived alone and in but a two room shack, it is known that he had some wealth, owning four lots in the town, valued at perhaps $1200.

AGRICULTURAL FAIRS FOR 1911 WILL RECEIVE NO LOCAL SUPPORT

Dates for Fall Fairs Throughout the Province Have Already Been Fixed but the Name "Wainwright" is not on the List --- Such a Society for this Purpose Could Easily be Formed Here Also.

SUCCESS OF SUCH IS ASSURED.

Dates for annual fall fairs have already been fixed by various agricultural societies throughout the province and steps, taken at even this early date, towards the success of such. Representative districts are falling in line and planning fairs, which will eventually place their towns in considerable prominence, throughout the province generally. It will also be noted in the following setting of dates that Wainwright is represented—a town with but a few hundred inhabitants, in a three-year-old district but a town and district that possesses a sufficient number of live-wire promoters to see that an agricultural fair will be beneficial to their best interests.

Agitations have been made in the Wainwright District for the establishment of an agricultural society also, with the aim of erecting a suitable building; on grounds in the town limits, with the assistance of a grant from the council and the donation of dollar for dollar from the Provincial Government. Although, this agitation has been prevalent among the farmers for some time past, and sympathized with by the citizens, no immediate steps have as yet been taken, towards the establishment of such a society in this district.

At the time of the organization of the local branch of the United Farmers of Alberta, it was stated by Guy Johnston, the District Organizer that the functions of such a union, among the farmers, were numerous and beneficial to that class of people. He also stated that in various sections of the province, the Union was the originating station of minor assemblies and organizations and that in many cases agricultural fairs were under the jurisdiction of such a body.

It is plainly evident that in order to "start the mill grinding," the local branch of this organization should come forward with their intentions and desires and from inquiries among the citizens and business men generally, a sufficient amount of support and assistance is already assured for the certain success of such a society. It is not necessary as yet to erect buildings for each separate exhibit, in that for the present, and until suitable buildings could be constructed, the Auditorium and other public halls could be used to material advantage.

The fall fairs in Circuit No. 4 will be held in the following towns, on the dates herein shown: Irma, September 22; Viking, September 26; Holden, September 28; Toilefield, September 30. These, as will be noticed are towns of smaller importance than Wainwright. Every little town and hamlet throughout the various other districts are in some circuit but Wainwright is in the following circuit and will hold her 1911 Agricultural Fair on the following date: ---???????

G.T.P. Will Stand by Wainwright

While Mr. R. C. W. Lett, of the Grand Trunk Pacific, was in town last week, he was asked on several occasions as to the likelihood of the branch line from Battleford being built this year. His reply, although uncertain, showed great hope that such a decision would be made by the company and early construction of the road, started.

Mr. Lett, in a broad minded view, recognized the importance of such a line, not only evidenced by the fertile lands through which it would naturally pass but the great benefit it would do the farmers along the proposed line of the branch. He was confident that some report would soon be made as to the intentions of the Grand Trunk Pacific in the construction of such a line. Although he did not know what these intentions were, he was certain that the railway company would show favor to Wainwright and its district.

A native of Switzerland and coming from that country about four years ago, the late Mr. Fuchs located near Calgary, afterwards coming here. A short time ago, a half section of land, owned by him, near Calgary, was sold and it is known that he received $2,000 cash, as a first payment. From information given one of his countrymen here, it is thought that he was in the fifty-sixth year of his age.

His brother, William Fuchs, residing in Chicago was telegraphed to by Officer Walliker and an answer received, stating that he was coming and gave instructions to have the body prepared for burial. The body was then taken to Small Bros. undertaking department, awaiting the arrival of Mr. Fuchs. He is expected to arrive tomorrow.

COUNCIL IN THE SOUP AND MUST "DECORATE"

Justice Stuart of the Supreme Court on Saturday afternoon last, handed out his decision on the famous Commissioner Bouillon Case. The decision and judgement consisted of fifty typewritten pages and stated that no Commissioner under the city charter could be discharged by city, unless a formal hearing was given by the Council and an opportunity given the Commissioner to defend himself.

The six aldermen who opposed Bouillon and sought his discharge will be compelled to pay the costs out of their own pockets, together with those contracted by Commissioner Bouillon, Judge Stewart declaring that the city was not responsible for such.

George Rosholt, formerly of Edmonton, arrived in town this week and will be associated in business with the Imperial Lumber Co. for the summer.

SUBSCRIBER AND SPECTATOR THINKS IT WAS POOR SPORT

Dear Mr. Star: May I say a word in justification of our boys of the Wainwright School Baseball Team, who went to Gilt Edge, under the impression that they were to be lined up against a team of school boys and not a body of rusty young fellows, only one of whom is entitled to wear short pants and two of whom have played in league teams. The victory for Gilt Edge was tremendous but in my opinion it was very poor sport. A. Y. Broadhurst.

BACHELORS BALL WAS BIG SUCCESS

Upwards of 125 Couples Enjoyed the Best Dance Ever Given in Town. Lynch's Orchestra Most Generous in Incases.

STANDING CREDIT TO BACHELORS

Following the greatest and most complete arrangements ever made for the success of such an affair, the bachelors of the town, in their dance on Friday night last, perhaps scored the greatest success, ever resulting in the social history of Wainwright.

The function was the first of its kind, ever ventured in the town and from the many expressions of enjoyment, on the part of guests, from the town and surrounding districts, the result was very gratifying, on the part of the local bachelors.

The hall was very artistically decorated with flags, bunting and streamers, with perhaps its greatest effect as the famous Railroaders Dance of March 1910. Neither pains nor expense were spared by the bachelors, in this respect and the result was most creditable to those in charge. Sitting-out rooms were arranged on the stage of the hall and card tables, provided for lovers of Hoyle's pleasant pastime.

Upwards of two hundred and fifty were in attendance, dancing commencing at nine o'clock and continuing until about one in the morning, when lunch was served by the Ladies of St. Thomas Church of England, after which dancing was discontinued until the early morning hours.

The music was provided by Lynch's Orchestra of Edmonton, who said it can safely be stated that it was the best ever heard in the Auditorium. The genial Lynch was most generous in his response to many requests and showed, as on former occasions, his numerous efforts in rendering satisfactory music.

On the whole, the function was a pronounced success in every way and will be a standing credit to the bachelors of the town.

12,000 ACRES WILL BE UNDER CROP IN DISTRICT THIS YEAR

As time passes and the entire acreage, planned by the district farmers is under crop, it is estimated with substantial data that upwards of 12,000 acres will be under crop and harvested next fall, within a radius of eighteen miles from town.

AN EXCHANGE WOULD MEAN THE WORST KIND OF A BAD BARGAIN

Thos. Wilkinson, who recently located on the east side of the Ribstone, made the statement the other day, that if he had his barn, on his old farm in Wisconsin, on his present homestead, he would not make an even trade for the two farms that in Wisconsin, having sold for $4,500, before leaving for the Wainwright district.

IMPLEMENTATIONS FREE LIST (Grain Growers' Guide)

In the United States many farmers oppose the reciprocity agreement because they declare that it discriminates against them in favor of the manufacturers. The Democrats at Washington are not opposing the agreement but are determined to remove the discrimination. They have already introduced a bill putting over 100 articles, including all kinds of farm implements and machinery, on the free list. If the American Senate passes this bill it will afford great relief to the consumers who have been taxed for half a century. Why cannot our members at Ottawa do likewise? The placing of farm implements on the free list in Canada would be a boon to the farmers and can well be stood by the manufacturers. This same applies to a number of other items.

OLIVER IN EDMONTON

The meeting, held in Edmonton on Wednesday last by Hon. Frank Oliver in the interests of the recent Reciprocity Agreement is reported by the Bulletin as being a decided success. Resolutions, brought forward in the meeting in favor of Reciprocity, were heartily endorsed, thus showing the confidence and approval of the Edmonton electorate to the Ottawa administration.

Although, a certain amount of approval was shown towards the agreement and in the same resolution, the confidence of the electorate in Mr. Oliver, it is very regrettable that recourse to the word "liar" should have been made in connection with the recent administration of the Rutherford Government. As scenes of disorder reigned on such a statement being made by the Minister of the Interior, the vote on the resolution and the amendment followed, when it was announced by "someone," as the Journal states, that the motion had carried. At this, the meeting closed and the unanimous approval of the resolution was announced by the Liberal organ.

The result of the meeting is dubious, whether the resolution of confidence was heartily endorsed by the electors lies in the same condition and state. Liberals declare the outcome of the meeting as a triumph for Oliver, while, as is always the case in such gatherings, the supporters of the opposing party declare that chaos and scenes of disorder reigned throughout, where Oliver and his party met with hot disapproval.

Be the result as it may, it cannot be denied by even the most pessimistic Conservative that Oliver, in his vacation to the West, has shown this portion of Canada the needs, the better features and the good results of such a compact with the United States. In his endeavour to test the western feeling towards Reciprocity, he has met with success, in the several ridings, he has visited.

The best way to settle an old score is with a $20 bill.

STATUTORY HOLIDAYS

Another statutory holiday has been added to the Canadian list, which will remain in force during the reign of King George, it being that of his birthday June 3rd. This year, Coronation day, 22nd, will be observed throughout the British Empire. The present King has recently intimated that he would prefer to have his birthday celebrated and observed at the actual anniversary of his birth and not on Empire Day, June 23rd, as desired by the late, King Edward.

Following is a list of the statutory holidays throughout Canada in force this year:

January 1—New Year's Day.
April 14—Good Friday.
April 16—Easter Monday.
May 24—Victoria Day.
June 3—King's Birthday.
June 22nd—Coronation Day.
July 1—Dominion Day.
September 4—Labor Day.
Thanksgiving Day.
Nov. 9—King's Birthday.
December 25—Christmas Day.

"Marty, if anyone calls for me, I will be back in ten minutes."
"Very well, and how soon will you be back if no one asks for you?"

NOTICE

The Wainwright U. F. A. will hold their next regular meeting on Saturday afternoon, May 6th, at 2 o'clock in Washburn & Mills' hall. All farmers, wishing to join should attend. The business will include reports from committees for securing binder twine. All members are requested to bring in estimates for binder twine, required for the year or send estimates to Messrs. Fox or Scouffer.

THE NEGRO SITUATION

The marked increase in the negro immigration to Canada, during the last few months, is forcing food for thought in almost every section of the West, generally. The matter is certainly of no little importance and in its consideration, every argument is being advanced disapproving the intermingling of races in Canada. Aside from the fact that a small percentage of this class may be and will eventually prove good settlers in the West, it would be well in the start to give the negro race as a whole, the understanding that their welcome to the West is not as cordial as it might be.

At the present time, when the negro form a very small percentage of the Canadian people, there is no reason why their immigration to Canada should not be checked. If, as time passes, they see a wide open door into the Canadian West, the influx will no doubt grow accordingly and Canada will be confronted with the same problems, with which the United States have had to deal for generations back. The negro race is impossible of being stamped out entirely, with an intermingling with the whites. As the color disappears in one generation, it is in evidence the next. These are the problems with which the Americans have had to deal and unless stringent laws are passed to the exclusion of large organized bodies of these people, the Canadian Government will finally be compelled to deal with the same race problems.

CIVIC IMPROVEMENTS FOR 1911

At last week's council meeting, reported in this Star, last issue, considerable business of an important nature was transacted, when recommendations were brought forward by the different committees for extensive civic improvements during the coming summer. The Public Works Comm. brought in recommendations for the construction of plank sidewalks on almost every important street in the town. Recommendations for grading and placing of culverts were also submitted and accepted by the council with authority to act thereon.

1. A 4 ft. plank sidewalk on west side of Queen Street from south side of 1st Avenue North to 9th Street.

2. A 4 ft. plank sidewalk on east side of Main Street from end of present cement walk north to most plank sidewalk built in 1910.

3. A 4 ft. plank sidewalk on 1st Avenue North side from East side of Main Street to corner of Dominion Street.

4. A 4 ft. plank sidewalk on King Street from North side of 4th Avenue to south side of 2nd Avenue, on east side of street.

5. That sidewalk on South side of 2nd Avenue be extended east to West side of Dominion Street.

6. A 4 ft. plank sidewalk on North side of 3rd Avenue from King Street to Dominion.

7. A 3 ft. plank sidewalk on 1st Avenue, north side of Main Street to King Street.

8. A 4 ft. plank sidewalk on South side of 8th Avenue from west side of Queen Street to east side of Main Street.

9. The construction of a wooden or cement drain from the intersections of Queen Street and 4th Avenue to slough in Block nine, drain to follow alley in Block fourteen as much as practicable, size of drain to be decided by Engineer from contour map of townsite.

10. The grading of Main Street north to 9th Avenue.

11. The grading of Queen Street from 1st Avenue to 4th Avenue.

12. The grading of King Street from 1st Avenue to 4th Avenue.

13. The grading of 1st Street from Queen Street to Dominion Street.

14. The grading of 2nd Avenue from King Street to Queen Street.

15. The grading of 3rd Avenue from Alberta Street to Dominion Street.

16. The grading of 4th Avenue from Queen Street to Dominion Street.

17. Culverts to be placed at all points where necessary for proper drainage, when doing grading.

OPINION AGAINST DAIRY SHIPPING

"It will pay the farmers and dairymen to think twice before shipping their cream to Edmonton or any other place where they are trying to centralize creamery operations."

"These companies are offering fancy prices for their cream, prices that are higher than the market will allow, in order to freeze out the local man. When the local creamery is shut down, and the machinery sold to the creamery man, these same companies will have the power to pay just what they want and no more. Why? For this reason."

"The man, who goes into dairying as a business, by selling cream, will not be able to make the butter at home, and therefore must sell his cream or sell his cows."

"We believe the home creamery man is, and has been doing his best towards satisfying his customers, and therefore the farmers should not be misled by fancy prices, that they themselves know cannot be kept up."—E.S.

STYLES

We are pleased to inform the boys of the town that there will be little change for them in spring fashions. Socks will be worn with a hole in the heel as of yore. Collars may be worn for two weeks, more or less. A nail to hold your nether garments in place will be considered the "go." And pockets in men's clothing, as usual, have no change in them.—Bowden News.

Falling Hair.

Mrs. Jas. Harris of Wapella, Sask., says:—

"I have found Parisian Sage to be the best scalp and hair tonic and dressing. I have ever used. My hair had been coming out in combs full and was very dry and brittle and the scalp was always itching and full of dandruff. I have used two bottles of Parisian Sage and it has stopped my hair from falling, the itching and dandruff have disappeared and my hair is fine and soft and glossy. I would not be without this fine Hair Tonic for many times the price."

For women, men, or children Parisian Sage is without any doubt the finest preparation for the hair. Daintily perfumed, it is free from grease or stickiness and ought to be where every member of the family could use it daily. Large bottles 50 cents at all drug stores or from the proprietors, The Gironx Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont., postpaid. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package. Sold and guaranteed by

A Style Subject

THE VALUE OF GOOD STYLE IN THE CLOTHES YOU SELECT CANNOT BE OVER-ESTIMATED, TO GIVE CLOTHES THAT CERTAIN TOUCH OF CORRECTNESS WHICH YOU ARE DESIROUS OF SEEING IN YOUR GARMENTS, IS DISTINCTLY A QUESTION OF ABILITY ON THE PART OF THE MAKER OF THE CLOTHES. THE QUALITY IS LARGELY A MATTER OF HONESTY.

WE BELIEVE YOU WILL GET WHAT YOU PAY FOR, IN THE MATTER OF FABRICS AND LININGS, IF YOU BUY CLOTHES OF A RELIABLE MAKE, BUT IF YOU WANT STYLE COMBINED WITH QUALITY, IT IS A QUESTION OF ABILITY, NOT HONESTY. THE 20TH CENTURY BRAND TAILORS HAVE THE ABILITY—HENCE THE STYLE YOU ALWAYS FIND IN THESE BENCH-TAILORED GARMENTS.

MUST PAY LICENSE TO SHOOT GESE

Every hunter will have to have a license to shoot wild geese this spring. This was the word received by Alex. Martin, one of the prominent sportsmen of Alberta, from Chief Game Guardian Ben Lawton. Hereafter all that was necessary to hunt geese was a good outfit and a disposition to go hunting, but this year things are different.

The following is an excerpt from the letter that Mr. Martin received from the Chief Game Guardian:

"In the event of your having any inquiries for licenses from parties who intend hunting wild geese this spring, you might inform them that the same can be procured by applying to this department."

Mr. Martin said that hunters were so accustomed to hunting geese without a license that he feared there would be a lot of them arrested for not procuring one. He said he was trying to arrange it with the Edmonton authorities so that the licenses could be secured here in town.

It would be very probable that he would have the issuing of them himself. A lot of hunters would take a chance upon being caught rather than to go to the bother of sending to Edmonton to get the permits. Calgary Albertan.

A WORD ABOUT "THE PRESS."

"There are some people, including now and then a travelling showman, who do not know that the custom is at the present time in vogue to recognize 'The Press' with complimentary admission."

It is not our intention to elaborate upon the question further than to say that all first-class travelling troupes at least always voluntarily advance complimentary tickets to 'The Press.'

It would seem that there is no one capable of taking a role in show-work who would not know why this is done, and who do not comprehend the return made by 'The Press' for this little favor, if it can be so termed.

Everybody knows that voluntary writeups in the newspapers of shows and concerts is of as much or more benefit to the success of these shows or concerts as any form of advertising, with possibly the exception of the circus, and even the circuses are always there with comp's. You are often directed on show cards to read what 'The Press' says of this show or this concert, and while show people cannot buy these press opinions, up-to-date show people recognize their value and return the compliment. Ex.

If our forefathers read the Bible with smoking lamps and blurred vision, and nevertheless got some blessing, what power of God it would be to us now if, in the light of the electric arc, we should find it the storehouse of Divine grace and truth, perfectly co-ordinated and surpassing our highest ideals.—Pastor Russell. (Sedge-wick Sentinel).

STUNG WITH A CAPITAL "S"

A newspaper editor in one of the Manitoba villages had the joke on a citizen of his burg not long since. The citizen and his family are great admirers of the departmental store, and buy all their goods in Winnipeg. A few weeks ago a daughter of the citizen got married and the entire wedding paraphernalia, including the invitations, were purchased in the city. The day after the wedding the bride's father brought to the newspaper office a long account of the event, but when the paper appeared it contained nothing about this wedding, but an announcement of three or four lines. Next day the citizen called at the newspaper office to demand an explanation why the report of the wedding had not been printed. "Oh that's all right," said the editor, "You'll likely find it in Eaton's spring catalogue."

G.T.P. PASSENGER STATION AT WINNIPEG

The new home of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway at Winnipeg, known as the Union Station, has been completed and the head offices of the Company have been moved into the building. The new terminals and station have been constructed to take care of the rapid increase of the importance of Winnipeg as a traffic centre, and the structure is a credit to the Western metropolis. The building has a frontage on Main Street of 325 feet and a depth of 140 feet, and covers a ground area of approximately 50,000 square feet. It comprises a basement and four storeys surmounted by a dome 90 feet in diameter and 100 feet above the street level. The new depot forms part of an extensive subject involving a system of trackage and buildings which will provide one of the best equipped terminals in the world. The main floor of the building has a large circular lobby in the centre under the dome with waiting rooms, restaurant and lunch room on one side, the ticket office and baggage room being on the opposite side. It communicates through to the rear by a subway and stairways to wide platforms between the eight through tracks, which have a capacity of 200 cars at a level of 10 feet above the level of the main floor. The main lobby is entirely unobstructed by columns or seats of any kind, and is exceptionally well lighted from all four sides by large arch windows. In the basement there is a waiting room with an area of 10,000 square feet, besides excellent accommodation for immigrants. The second, third and fourth storeys will be devoted to office purposes. Ultimately it is planned to add four more storeys to provide a total of 200,000 square feet of office space.

Millions for Western Canada.

J. HUTCH WALKER, Commissioner of Immigration, recently predicted that within 25 years Western Canada would have a population of Twenty-Five Million souls.

Last year 335,000 settlers located in Western Canada—nearly a thousand a day. It is expected that the number this year will be much larger—that at least 100,000 will come from the States alone. Already the rush to Western Canada has begun. Trainloads of immigrants are crossing the continent every few days from the eastern seaboard. There is every indication that this will be Western Canada's biggest year.

Wainwright district with its tons of thousands of acres of rich farming land still uncultivated, will furnish homes for thousands of new settlers, who will swell the volume of Wainwright's trade and make its continued rapid growth in population necessary.

Do You Believe in Wainwright?

Do you believe that it is going to make one of the leading cities of Western Canada—that Wainwright and the surrounding country will get their share of the coming millions? If you do, then you must believe that Wainwright real estate offers an exceptionally good opportunity for profitable investment. Show your faith by investing your money in Wainwright.

CHAPTER XXIX.

As the door closed Kirkwood swung impulsively to breakfast with the brief, uneven touch of his drawn brows. "Good! Good!" he cried. "You don't know!"

"I can surmise," interrupted the older man slowly.

"You turned away in the nick of time, for all the world like—"

"Harkness popping through a stage trap!"

"No—an incantation of the profane that watches over children and fools."

Brentwick dropped a faint hand upon the shoulder. "The little seems singularly happy, Philip. Permit me to suggest that you join the child in my study." He laughed quietly, with a slight nod toward an open door at the end of the hallway. "For myself, I'll be with you in one moment."

A faint, indistinct smile lurking in the shadow of his white mustache, he watched the young man wheel and dash through the doorway. "Young heart!" he commented audibly and a trace sadly. "You'll know."

Beyond the threshold of the study Kirkwood paused, eager eyes searching for his son's shadow for a sign of Dorothy.

By the fireplace, a little to one side, she stood, one small foot resting on the brass fender, her figure emerging into the dusky background, her delicate beauty gaining an effect of elusive and ethereal mystery in the waning and waning ruddy glow upflung from the bedded coals.

"Oh, Philip!" She turned swiftly to Kirkwood with extended hands and a low, broken cry. "It's so glad."

A trace of hysteria in her manner warned him, and he checked himself upon the verge of a too dangerous tenderness. "There!" he said soothingly, letting her hands rest gently in his palms while he led her to a chair. "We can make ourselves easy now."

She sat down, and he released her hands with a reluctant smile, more than actual. "If ever I say another word against my luck—"

"Who," inquired the girl, lowering her voice—"who is the gentleman in the flowered dressing gown?"

"Brentwick—George Silvester Brentwick, an old friend. I've known him for years, ever since I came abroad. Curiously enough, however, this is the first time I've ever been here. I called once, but he wasn't in—a few days ago he was here."

"He didn't?" she asked, the place looked familiar. "Stupid of me!"

"Philip," said the girl, with a grave face, but a shaking voice. "It was"—she laughed, provocatively—"it was so funny, Philip. I don't know why I ran when you told me to, but I did. And while I ran I was conscious of the front door being opened and this tall man in the flowered dressing gown coming down to the gate as if it were the most ordinary thing in the world for him to strut out dressed that way in the evening. And he opened the gate and bowed and said, ever so pleasantly, 'Won't you come in, Miss Calendar!'"

"He did?" exclaimed Kirkwood. "But how?"

"How can I say?" she expostulated. "At all events, he seemed to know me, and when he added something about calling you in, too—he said 'Mr. Kirkwood'—I didn't hesitate."

"It's strange enough, surely, and fortunate. Bless his heart!" said Kirkwood.

"And 'Hunt' said Mr. Brentwick considerably, entering the study. He had discarded the dressing gown and was now in evening dress.

The girl rose. Kirkwood turned. But Brentwick begged his patience with an eloquent gesture and rang the bell.

A soft footed butler, impulsive as Fate, materialized mysteriously in the doorway.

"You rang, sir?" he interrupted frigidly.

"If any one should ask for me I'm not at home."

"Very good, sir."

"And if you should see a pair of disagreeable scoundrels skulking in the neighborhood, one short and stout, the other tall and evidently a seafaring man, let me know."

"Thank you, sir." A moment later the front door was heard to close.

Brentwick turned with a little bow to the girl. "My dear Miss Calendar," he said, rubbing his thin, fine hands—"I am old enough, I trust, to call you such without offense—please be seated."

"Would you mind telling me how you knew?" began Kirkwood anxiously.

"Not in the least, my dear Philip. It is simple enough. I possess an imagination. From my bedroom window, on the floor above, I happen to behold two cubs meowing down the steps, and one doggedly pursuing the other. The foremost stops, perforce of a fagged horse. There ahalts a young gentleman permitting me to enjoy myself, which I am doing thoroughly at the present moment. And," he added as a small apparition at the door, "I have already schemed out a scheme for the discomfiture of our friends the enemy, a scheme which we will discuss with our dinner while the butler raps and I imagine a vein in the other's forehead."

Kirkwood would have fingered, but of such infernal temptations was his host that he bowed him into the hands of a manservant without permitting him another word.

"Not a syllable," he insisted. "I protest I am devoted with constancy, my dear boy, but I have also bowels of compassion. When we are well on our way, when you are strong enough with food and drink, then you may begin. But now—Dicky, to the valet, 'do your duty.'"

He heard the young man's footsteps diminish on the stairway, and again he smiled the indulgent, melancholy smile of mellow years. "Tooth!" he whispered softly. "Romance! And now," with a brisk preface, "now we close the study door—now we are ready for this interesting Mr. Calendar."

A suspicion of moisture glistened in his eyes. "Dorothy!" he whispered huskily, and a little later, raising, he proceeded to the telephone.

An hour and a half later Kirkwood, his self respect somewhat restored by a bath and a shave and a resumption of the clothes which had been hastily but thoroughly cleaned and pressed by Brentwick's valet, his confidence and courage mounting high under the comfortable influence of generous wine, substantial food, and the presence of his wife's mistress and the admiration which was unceasing of his friend, concluded at the dinner table his narrative.

"And that," he said, looking up from his savory, "is about all."

"Brentwick approached Brentwick, eyes shining with delight.

"All," interposed Dorothy in warm reproach, "but what he hasn't told."

"What my dear, it is to be accounted for wholly by a very creditable modesty rarely encountered in the young men of the present day. It was, of course, altogether different with those of my younger years. Yes, Wotton?"

Brentwick sat back in his chair, inclining an attentive ear to a communication murmured by the butler.

Turned the Tables.

Two hunters, returning from the Outback, decided to try some New York city humor and the presence of a little railroad station in the foothills.

"When does the 8:40 train get in?" asked the old man, regarding him seriously and at length. "Wait," said he, "she generally gets in just a little behind the engine."

Then they approached him respectfully. "About time that train is due, isn't it, uncle?"

"Yes," replied the agent, "about a day. There comes the conductor's dog. Everybody's."

Result of a Fad.

Poverty came in at the door. Love immediately flew out of the window.

"An," said those who observed. "This is what comes of being fresh air tactician." Judge's Library.

insured Against Bandits.

The bandits of Manchuria and Mongolia have adopted a new way of acquiring their victims. Instead of the old-fashioned traveler, these mounted highwaymen in bands not only constantly attack the peaceful native population, but even rob travelers in broad daylight.

As a provision against this danger an insurance bureau where one buys a banner at a cost of about one-fifth of the value of the property to be insured is established.

This banner carried by a traveler will save him from the bandits' attack. The banner is made of a material which is not easily torn and is so constructed that it will not be damaged by fire or water. Aviators, Please Note!

Any aviator who can give a definite guarantee that his machine will not break down should find a good customer in a young man named Ebenstein.

Ebenstein has inherited a large fortune from his grandfather, Old Ebenstein, and a Hanscomber factory against the Prussians in 1900, and his hatred of his enemies was so intense that in his will he made it a condition that his heir should never set foot on Prussian soil.

But young Ebenstein lives in Brunswick and Prussia divides Brunswick into five parts, all of which it surrounds. As Ebenstein lives in one of the smallest parts, he is practically a prisoner to the end of his days. He can scarcely move without touching Prussia.

Only by airplane can he escape. But, supposing the airplane breaks down after a mile or two, and lands him in a Prussian field! In that case, the money would pass to a distant cousin.

So airplane owners who have a good machine for sale have a chance of making a great bargain.

Patent of Nobility in Pawn.

The Neue Presse of Budapest recently published the following communication: "The original patent of nobility granted by Maria Theresa in 1741 to George Ritter von Frenzel is now in the possession of Dr. J. E. Lindemann, regimental surgeon at Freiburg. The document was given to him as a security for a loan. This announcement is made for the information of possibly existing descendants of Ritter von Frenzel."

The Use of the Impractical.

"Aren't you afraid some of the reform ideas you express are impractical?"

"Of course," replied Mr. Spredgill. "But in people who do, and those who do know it aren't afraid of them."

A Scotch Answer.

A little Scotch boy was up the other day before the examining magistrate. The examination was viva voce, designed to discover signs (if any) of general intelligence. They asked the boy what he knew about the Battle of Flodden.

He said "Nothing."

"What?" they said. "Don't you know anything about that battle in which the English beat the Scotch?"

"Well," he said, "I know it must have been very exceptional."—London Telegraph.

CANADA CEMENT COMPANY LIMITED

Annual Report of the Board of Directors

TO THE SHAREHOLDERS.

Your Directors have the pleasure to present herewith the annual statement of the affairs and financial position of the Canada Cement Company, Limited, as of the 31st December, 1928.

In presenting the Balance Sheet, we call attention to the Company's strong financial position as disclosed by the large amount of cash on hand, and other quick assets, and the comparatively small amount of current liabilities. After providing for interest on our Bonds and Dividends on our Preferred Stock for the year, we have been able to set up reserves for depreciation, extraordinary repairs and renewals, bad debts, etc., and carry forward a substantial balance to Surplus Account.

The consumption of cement during the past year was not as large as anticipated. Our business also suffered on account of the Railway, not being able to meet our full requirements for cars during the heavy shipping season; consequently, we carry over from last year 781,186 barrels of cement.

Early in 1929 the price of our product was fixed at a lower price than cement had ever been sold for in Canada, excepting for a short period in 1920, but your Directors are pleased to state that the anticipated savings in manufacturing and distributing our products were such that they were able to still further reduce this price.

We trust, when you consider the above mentioned conditions, and also the fact that during 1929 our plants were only operated to 97.6 per cent. of their capacity, the profits shown will be satisfactory to the Shareholders.

During the current year we look for a larger natural demand, which demand will be stimulated by continuing to manufacture a strictly high grade article, and by selling it at the lowest possible price. This anticipated increase will enable us to operate our plants to better advantage than in the past, but we do not expect that the demand will be sufficient to enable us to put into operation either of the two plants which have been idle since the organization of this Company. However, it is confidently expected that the increased demand, and increased output, will result in further savings in the cost of manufacture and distribution, and it is the policy of your Directors to give your customers the benefit of these reductions.

The Shareholders' profits will depend on the increased volume of the Company's business, the policy of the Company being the maintenance of such a stable position as will insure regular and uniform payments of interest on its bonds and dividends on its Preferred Stock, and at the same time be in a position to withstand any untimely emergency that may arise consequent on business depression or otherwise, which condition naturally necessitates the accumulation of, and the maintenance of, a large cash reserve.

It is also the policy of the Company to equalize the price of cement throughout Canada in so far as the physical conditions make such possible, and in furtherance of this policy, your Directors have arranged to purchase a site near Winnipeg, on which they will erect, this year, a mill to grind clinker, which clinker will be shipped from one of our Eastern mills. The buildings, machinery, etc., will be planned so that, should it at any time in the future be advisable, a Burning Department can be added, and the clinker produced on the property.

And further, an agreement has been entered into whereby this Company expects to acquire, in the near future, a property at Exshaw, which, added to our Calgary plant, and the projected plant at Winnipeg, will put us in the position of anticipating any extraordinary growth in the consumption of cement in the Great West.

With a view of educating the public, and popularizing the use of cement, in addition to the ordinary advertising, the Company has published a small book illustrating some of the many uses to which cement may be put, for which book there has been a great demand, 25,000 applications for same having been received during the past six months.

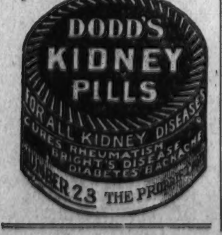

For the purpose of stimulating interest in the Company on behalf of the Employees, both in efficiency and cheapening production, as well as creating a feeling of mutual goodwill, your Directors deem it expedient to introduce a system, already adopted by several large industrial corporations with beneficial results, viz., to enable employees to become the possessors of Preferred and Common Stock at prices which will be attractive to them, the employee paying a fixed amount per share per month out of their earnings, and the Company carrying the stock for them, charging a rate of 5 p.c. interest. If the plan is put into effect, all dividends will be credited to the employee applying for the stock; said stock will be held in trust for the employee for a term of five years, excepting in exceptional cases, such as death, when his heirs will receive what benefit a deceased employee has derived from subscribing to the stock.

Your Directors feel that the policy, as herein outlined, will, as nearly as possible, make the interests of the consumers, the employees, and the shareholders identical, and will insure the most successful and beneficial results for all concerned.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

On behalf of the Board of Directors,

WILLIAM C. EDWARDS,
President.

DOOLY DECEASED.

Letter Concludes That the Deacon is a Pirate.

SHE WRITES HER EPIGRAPH.

Meanwhile Dooly Reads a Circular About the Nature of Crew—Funeral Arrangements Are Called On—The Family Circle is Whipped.

By M. QUAD.

Copyright 1917 by Associated Literary Press.

THE supper table Deacon Dooly removed that he had better go down to the village post office and see if a letter had come from Mr. Dooly's sister in Indiana. He didn't expect and didn't want, merely suggested as he reached over for a third helping of liver and bacon. It took Mrs. Dooly ten minutes to no quibble, but after a time she got around to it, and the deacon mugged off. He knew that things would happen in his absence, but he had never been to the village post office to begin with. Mrs. Dooly's slaver floated out to him as he shut the gate behind him.

There was no letter. You can never depend upon any one living in Indiana to write a letter on a certain date. They assume that any old time will do.

Deacon Goodheart was also at the postoffice. He was expecting a letter from his sister in Ohio. Neither deacon received a letter, but Deacon Dooly did get a circular regarding crew laws and their mist. What was more, after the circular had been sent away in his pocket than he should challenge the other deacon to go down to the back room of the grocery and see what a crew was made of.

Deacon Dooly went to the back room and found that both deacons had been on the gallop.

Would Mrs. Dooly have gone to bed? Would she be hanging by the neck upstairs or down cellar?

Mr. Dooly felt some flesh stealing over him as he asked himself these questions, and he mentally determined that he would take advantage of the first favorable occasion to lick Deacon Goodheart for straggling the game out so long before giving up. However, he did not precipitate himself into the house. On the contrary, he waited until a dim light left burning.

He turned it up and with several grunts of satisfaction got his shoes off. He called for a towel and washed his face. And almost the first thing he read was he opened that crew circular was:

"The crew largely partakes of the nature of woman. There are humble crew, and there are caty, kicky crew. You must study the nature of each animal. There are wives who will take a beating without a murmur, and there are wives who'll raise the roof if you hit their ears."

Mrs. Dooly's Tombstone Text.

The deacon had owned cows for thirty years. He had never studied their disposition. He had always given them a kick after milking and let it go at that. Here was a new and interesting theory. He had forgotten all about Mrs. Dooly when she slowly entered the room with a knife in her hand and a look of murder on her face.

"Here lies Mrs. Samuel Dooly, aged fifty-two. She found, after many years, that she was made of the same stuff as the rest of the crew."

"That's to go on my tombstone, Samuel," she said after having given him time to read the words. "I don't want to hurt your feelings, but I do want people to know why I did. Will you grant my last request?"

The deacon didn't say. But for that crew circular he might have denied or assented, but he was reading cows.

It should be known to all cow owners that if you take an ax and knock the horns of a cow in anger she will turn a kick after her to understand that you do it as a matter of principle and duty, because you are afraid she will kick herself with them. Hence be reluctant to explain matters to your cow. The more confidence you have in her the more she will kick.

"Yes, Samuel," he heard Mrs. Dooly say. "And nothing can change my mind. I have learned that you are a pirate, but was not sure until this evening. When 9 o'clock came and you were not home I sent little Dooly (Dooly's son) for you."

"Where did the innocent child and you? Where, I ask! In the room back of the grocery, playing checkers with Deacon Goodheart, and eating liver with glasses of beer at your elbow? No wonder that little Henry could hardly gasp out a word when he got back. Samuel Dooly, you are a convicted pirate!"

The deacon laughed.

The deacon smiled inwardly. It was only order in the glasses, and he did not drink all of his first five days' rum, and lots of it. They also said

LEGISLATION.

J.B. MORIN NEVER FORGOT THE WAYS OF HIS PEOPLE.

Sturdy French-Canadian, Who Spent Twelve Years in the Commons, Was Noted for His Unconventional Characteristic and Beloved for His Steady Honesty and Kindness of Heart.

So insistent are the things of the present in comparison with those of the past, so much more important are the men and events of hand than those that have been, and so short is the memory of the public respecting those who have served to serve or to entertain, that when the death of Jean Baptiste Morin was announced the other day most people had but a faint recollection of the man who was, and in what connection with the House of Commons, a writer in The Montreal Standard.

And yet it is only three years since he died, and in the time which for twelve years he was a conspicuous figure—conspicuous, not because of the services he rendered to his country, but because of his strong personality, his clear-cut and amusing characteristics.

In short, Jean Baptiste Morin was a character, but one that not only attracted attention to those who were good friends, but that also inspired respect among opponents and won confidence among enemies.

In fact, it can be truly said that Morin, that while he had political aspirations, he had no ambition to be a politician. He was a man of the people, and he was a man of the people.

Accompanying the announcement of Mr. Morin's death were published his obituary notices from the Montreal Standard, which were published in the Montreal Standard.

For twelve years he sat there, and never was member more diligent in his duties. He was a man of the people, and he was a man of the people.

He was a man of the people, and he was a man of the people.

He was a man of the people, and he was a man of the people.

SECOND AVENUE

ALL THAT'S NEW AND OF INTEREST FOR A WEEK PAST

T. G. Cook, manager of the Imperial Lumber Co., was a passenger to Edmonton on Saturday, returning here on Sunday.

Mr. Bert Bell, the popular O. T. P. locomotive foreman, was a visitor to Edmonton last week, returning on Sunday.

Mrs. George May of Edmonton, was visiting her friend, Mrs. W. J. McPhie, for a few days, returning to the Capital on Monday, in company with Mrs. McPhie and Mrs. H. V. Fieldhouse.

Thomas Bissin is rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter at his home on Wednesday last. When receiving congratulations his usual broad smile lengthens into a laugh.

H. V. Fieldhouse and a party of motorists enjoyed a very interesting motor trip to Vermilion last week, returning the same day. Mr. Fieldhouse states that the roads in the north country are in excellent condition for automobile traffic, his car, easily surmounting the many hills on the route.

Do Forest Glynne, who has been working on the Viking Gazette for the past few months arrived in town on Monday last, on business. Mr. Glynne, since leaving Wainwright has become a partner in a real estate company in Viking and has met with much success.

"The way to build up a town is to build yourself up and not to tear down your neighbors. It is a bad sign when one is hard on his neighbor. It is far better to boost, pull together for one common good—the best interests of the town." Ex. Visitors in town remark that Wainwright believes in the above. Let us keep it, cherish our good qualities and work towards one end—a bigger, broader and better town.

It is reported and such could have been verified by the illumination of the heavens during the past week, that a disastrous prairie fire has been raging north of town for the past few days. In the high winds, prevailing, the fire in its race jumped the Battle River in two places, destroying much property and causing great alarm to the farmers generally.

Godfrey Cook, travelling salesman for the Fort & Featherstone Carriage Co., was in town last week.

Rev. Mr. Russell, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, went to Calgary on Monday to attend the meeting of the Presbyterian Synod.

Several G. T. B. men, who have been here for sometime past, awaiting work to open up west of Edmonton, went to Hinton last week.

William Ranicar, late of England, arrived in town last week and opened a boot repairing establishment in the shop recently vacated by J. E. Wilding on Main St.

The local "buzz waggon" are creating no small amount of favorable comment, as the passenger trains pull into the station. Almost every car in town is seen at the depot, on the arrival of the daily trains and their presence reflects no small amount of credit upon the town generally.

O. Linpert, the enterprising milkman, has recently purchased a covered milk wagon, which is now seen on the streets of the town. The wagon is of very neat design and shows that Mr. Linpert is determined to have an up-to-date means of milk delivery.

Suffering from the kick of a horse, Joe, the twelve year old son of Mr. Moore, who resides a few miles from town, was brought to Dr. Watson's private hospital on Wednesday afternoon last. On his arrival at the hospital, it was found that the upper jaw bone was severely fractured and the lower jaw broken, the nose of the young lad being also broken in two places. A severe cut was also made in the boy's cheek, necessitating twelve stitches being taken by Dr. Watson. Aside from the great loss of blood, at the time of the accident, the little fellow stood the injury surprisingly well. He is at present at the hospital, where he is reported progressing as well as can be expected.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Sheldon of Calgary are visiting at the home of Mrs. Sheldon's brother, Mr. A. B. Mills.

S. G. Lewis of Chateau was in town on business this week, returning home on Tuesday.

Dr. C. H. Drake, veterinary surgeon of Viking, will be in Wainwright every Thursday beginning May 4th.

John Gano was a passenger to Tofield and points farther west on Monday. While absent, Mr. Gano will take a number of photos for the Canada Pictorial Co., to be used for advertising purposes.

Excavation was started on Saturday last by Mr. W. S. Clarke, on the lot recently purchased by him, adjoining G. H. Benadry, where it is his intention to build premises for a general store. W. D. McKay received the contract for excavation.

Emigration to Canada has been brisk for the past generation but during the past few years, the increased population has eclipsed all previous records. Estimates made by the governments have been increased and especially in regard to the west.
